Team Building: From Me to We Building Strong and Effective Teams in the

The concept of working with a team is fundamental in most organizations yet despite widespread talk about teams, many people may not have actually had a “true” team experience. People often spend years working together, serving on committees together, and attending meetings together, and still may not feel like they have been part of a team. Like so many other aspects of life and work, teamwork comes down to mastering a set of behaviours that are seemingly uncomplicated yet challenging to put into practice day after day.

Team building helps a group function as a unit. It fosters morale, trust, cohesiveness, communication, and productivity.

In this 3 hour interactive workshop, you will learn about:

- Attributes that constitute the team philosophy
- Concepts of team roles
- Developmental stages of a team
- Learning styles and preferences that influence team dynamics
- Signs of healthy and unhealthy teams (based upon Patrick Lencioni’s “The Five Dysfunctions of a Team”)
- Positive and effective communication practices within a team
- Strategies that enhance increased effectiveness of team meetings

Fee: $40.00 PTL Program Member $60.00 Non-Member • Handouts relating to the workshop. • Course certificate for successful completion of the workshop.
